

What types of product are covered by the legislation?

Most animal by-products or derived products not intended for human or animal consumption, with the exception of pet food, are covered by the regulation.